FLOOD REACHES HIGHEST POINT

Danger is Believed Passed at Evansville But Suffering Has Not Decreased—Highest Since 1884.

RAFTS READY AT CAIRO, ILL.

Suffragettes at London Burn Another Fine Country Home—Fatal Wreck Near Toledo.

(By American Press.)
Evansville, Ind., April 5.—The Ohio river has reached the crest at this point but there is no lessening of distress in this city and section. The river now stands at forty-eight and one-half feet, which is the highest mark ever recorded. It is estimated that about twenty miles of streets in this city are under water. Rising temperature today offered some relief to the sufferers. The flood previous to the present flood was in 1884 when the stage reached 48 feet.

CAIRO STILL IN DANGER

(By American Press.)
Cairo, Ill., April 5.—The crest of the flood was expected to reach this city by tonight but arrangements are completed in case the river continues to raise. The river shows 54 feet on the guage and the water is up to within a few inches of the concrete retaining wall. Rafts have been prepared and the officers believe that the people can be saved if the worst should come. The river is three feet above the street level and a break in the levee means that the town will be destroyed and possibly many lives lost.

BAD WRECK NEAR TOLEDO

(By American Press.)
Toledo, Ohio, April 5.—Two men were killed, four fatally scalded and five others injured when east bound train number six on the B. & O. ran through an open switch and crashed into the station at Hoytville four miles west of here at eleven-thirty o'clock last night. Five passengers whose names could not be learned were taken to the hospital at Garrett, Indiana.

ANOTHER HOUSE IS BURNED

(By American Press.)
London, April 5.—Suffragettes burned the large country home of Charles Wood, in Buckinghamshire today. The loss is estimated at $12,000. Cards bearing the inscription "votes for Women" and other suffragette mottoes were found on the ground.

SURRENDER IS RUMORED

(By American Press.)
London, April 5.—A persistent but unconfirmed rumor here today is that Scutari has surrendered to the Montenegrins and Servians. Scutari is one of the main cities in Albania, and lies along the Adriatic coasts. It has been besieged almost constantly since the beginning of the war.

SAW DAYTON FLOOD.

Albert Lambertson, Sam Murphy, Dill Waddell, Walter Butler and Frank Palin, all of Straughn, motored to Dayton last Wednesday and saw the damage that had been done by the high waters.

BIG CONSIGNMENT OF MAIL

Traffic is Not Yet Restored so it Arrives on Time.

The biggest batch of mail to reach Rushville on any one train arrived this morning over the Big Four. There were fifty or sixty pouches, part of which were consigned to Connersville. Most of it was low class mail which has been held up by the flood. A good part of the Indianapolis mail has been coming to Rushville for the last week over the Big Four by way of Anderson and the Pennsylvania by way of Richmond. The C. H. & D. ran a train through from Indianapolis this morning, but there were no mail clerks on and no mail could be handled.

SERVICE RESUMED ON VARIOUS ROADS

Traction Line and C. H. & D. in Operation For First Time Since Flood of Last Week.

LOCAL SCHEDULE ON I. & C.

With the C. H. & D. and I. & C. traction line starting train service today, traffic into the city today was back almost to normal. The C. H. & D. ran trains direct from Indianapolis to West Hamilton, Ohio. The bridge at Morristown has been completed and the train service from now until further notice will consist of two trains each way a day.

The traction line started service this afternoon. Only the local cars are run, which schedule will be followed for a few days at least. The local cars run every two hours. The traction officials announce that the cars will run into the terminal station in Indianapolis Monday. On the Greensburg division cars run to Fairland from Indianapolis and from Shelbyville to Greensburg. The track between Fairland and Shelbyville has not yet been repaired.

The Pennsylvania and Big Four are maintaining their regular schedules and the Pennsylvania has service from Richmond to Columbus.

WHEAT CROP WAS NOT DAMAGED MUCH

Farmers Estimate Loss on Account of the Flood in Rush County will Not be Very Heavy.

HARD CRUST PROTECTS FIELD

The local wheat crop is in good shape up to date. In order to fully realize the promise now given the wheat plant should have plenty of heat, air and moisture.

On account of the hard crust which covers the wheat fields, thus forming a complete water connection between the water supply below and the surface of the soil, it is estimated that the warmth of the sun will evaporate fully one hundred barrels of water per day from a fifty acre field, and to stop this great evaporation a light tillage of the soil should be made at once.

This is best accomplished by using a roller to be followed by a light harrowing and this can be kept up until the plant has attained a growth of fully 4 inches.

A still further benefit could be given the plant by broadcasting some good commercial fertilizer, but stirring the soil so as to break this hard crust is the most important of all.

From the reports regarding conditions, the fields have not been materially damaged by the floods, although in some places the fields were cut up by the current.

Badly Crippled But Still in the Ring

Scene at the office of the Daily Republican on the morning of Tuesday, March 25th, after the water had receded about six inches. Our machinery, which was entirely under water, is again in running order, and beginning next Monday the Daily Republican will be issued in its full size—eight pages—and can handle advertising in its full capacity. The Job Printing Department is also again in full operation.

500,000 WILL FUND MARK IS OBSERVE DAY SET AT $1,000

Law in Indiana Now That School Children Shall Celebrate Arbor Day.

APRIL 18, IS DATE THIS YEAR IS INCREASED TO $70 TODAY

No Definite Program Prescribed But Teachers Will Arrange Lessons And Demonstrations.

Arbor Day was inaugurated in 1872 in Nebraska through the efforts of J. Sterling Morton. In Indiana it was first observed in 1884. Since that time once or twice each year more or less attention has been given to Arbor Day. The last legislature passed a law requiring that Arbor Day be annually observed in the schools of the state and has fixed the third Friday of April of each year as the day. This shows the advance of the work of forestry in this state and the law is welcomed by teachers, pupils and parents.

On this date practically 500,000 school children will be told what kind of trees, shrubs and vines to select for shade and ornamental purposes; how to plant and care for them. Appropriate exercises will be held and the planting, pruning and caring for trees will be demonstrated. The parents also will be invited to participate in the exercises. On this day, the teacher, pupil and parent will work together, and it is believed that a sentiment in favor of making the home and our cities more beautiful will soon prevail.

No definite program has been prescribed by the new law, but it is expected that a majority of the teachers will give lessons in the selection of the kind of trees, shrubs and vines to plant, how to plant, prune and care for them. Grafting and budding may also be demonstrated. Where space will permit, suitable trees, shrubs and vines will be planted on the school grounds. Their location will be studied so that their arrangement will result in artistic effects; fences and out buildings will be screened from view.

It is hoped that the schools of every neighborhood will compete with each other in the improvement of their grounds. However, the planting of trees will accomplish little unless they are properly protected and cared for. Plant trees and "watch them grow" by caring for them.

Much valuable information on the selection, planting and pruning of shade trees is contained in the 1910 report of the State Board of Forestry, which may be obtained free by writing to the State Forester at Indianapolis.

TO SHIP HORSES THIS MONTH

William Wilson Comes Ahead of Father to Arrange For Quarters.

William Wilson of California, formerly of this city has come to Indiana ahead of his father, Dick Wilson, veteran Hoosier trainer, to make arrangements for the location of the string of horses which Mr. Wilson and son will train at the state fair grounds in Indianapolis. There will probably be about fifteen horses in the string. They will be raced over the middlewest circuits. The stable will be shipped about the nineteenth of this month. Mr. Wilson and his son have had great success in their chosen vocation since leaving Rushville for the west.

FORTY-THREE TRY FOR LICENSES

The Delayed Teachers' Examination Brings Out Larger List of Applicants Than Usual.

COMMENCEMENT DATES SET

Special Interest Attaches to Milroy Closing Because Former Milroy Boy Delivers Address.

Forty-three took advantage of the delayed teachers' examination on the third floor of the court house today and tried for teachers' licenses. As the summer days draw nearer the schools of the county are drawing to a close and the high school commencements are common.

The teachers' examination was to have been held last Saturday, but the examination questions could not be sent out by Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction, because of the delayed mails due to the flood. Licenses issued at this time will be considered valid as if they had been issued from the examination the last Saturday in March, had it been possible to hold it. The delay will cause two examinations to fall in April as another will be held the last Saturday in April.

All the schools of the county are closed with the exception of those at Glenwood, New Salem, Milroy, Moscow, Manilla and in Rushville township. The Rushville city schools will close the last Friday in May, the thirtieth, and the commencement will be held the following week.

The Noble township commencement exercises will be held in the town hall in New Salem Friday evening, April 18. The address will be delivered by R. J. Kelley, president of Earlham college at Richmond.

The closing exercises of the Union township high school will be held at Ben Davis Creek church next Thursday evening. The main address will be delivered by the Rev. Clyde S. Black of Milroy.

The Rev. Mr. Black will also deliver the commencement address of the Walker township high school. The exercises will be held at Manilla Friday evening, April 25.

The Milroy high school commencement will be held at the Milroy Methodist church Friday evening, May 16. The address will be delivered by Prof. Thomas W. Nadal of Olivet college, Olivet, Mich. He is a former Milroy boy and much interest attaches to his coming appearance there. The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered at the same church by its pastor, the Rev. Clyde S. Black, Sunday evening, May 11.

The Orange township high school commencement will be held at Moscow in the school building Saturday, April 26. The speaker has not been selected yet.

The postponed Arlington high school commencement was held in the Arlington Christian church last night. The original date was a week ago but it was delayed because of the high water. The address was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Whitman of Liberty. The graduates were Edith Hardin, Margaret Edwards and Leland Gardner.

REBECCA CLOUD DIES.

Mrs. Rebecca Cloud, age 81 years, widow of the late Levi Cloud of Spiceland, died Thursday evening at a sanitorium in Indianapolis, and her body was removed to Newcastle that night. The body was taken to the late home where the funeral will be held. Mrs. Cloud is survived by two sons, Lewis E. Cloud of Newcastle and Dr. J. E. Cloud of San Diego, Cal.

On the Wane.

The discussion of politics is gradually getting back on the front page. The excitement of a calamity, the greatest which has befallen Indiana and Ohio for years, took all the interest from such mild topics as political issues.

In all of the hubbub the fast has probably been overlooked that the Bull Moosers suffered two very decisive defeats in recent municipal elections. In the St. Louis city election they ran fourth and in the Chicago city election they ran third.

Both places were supposed to be Bull Moose strongholds. They may have been one day, but the vote shows they are no more. Out of the 125,000 votes cast in St. Louis, there were only 4,611 Bull Moosers. A Republican mayor was elected with a plurality of 2,139 over the next highest candidate, a Democrat. The Socialists were third.

And it was only last week that the right honorable Samuel G. Blythe, who has shown before what a poor political predictor he is, contributed his sixth article to the Saturday Evening Post to show why the Republican party is dead. Not satisfied with the other five articles, Mr. Blythe is intent on impressing the people with the very evident fact that the G. O. P. is a corpse.

The Democrats had a walkaway in the Chicago city election. They elected a judge of the superior court, city treasurer, city clerk and twenty-one of the thirty-seven aldermen. The Republicans displaced the Bull Moosers and ran second. They elected eleven aldermen and the Bull Moosers the remaining four.

People would undoubtedly be glad to carry their own packages home and save the expense of delivery teams, were it not that someone might think they were trying to reduce the cost of living.

It will be a good idea to give seats in congress to the cabinet makers, but it is to be hoped that they don't lay the aforesaid secretaries on the table.

The New Jersey legislature continues to show its good training when President Wilson calls out "Charge, Fido."

They are going to spend $2,500,000 on a public forum at Washington in honor of G. W., in spite of the fact that anybody can go to congress and talk as long as he wants to.

The back to the land movement is all right, but to make it really popular, tiled bath rooms are needed for the cross roads farm house.

We will be glad to make out your mortgage exemptions at Recorders office. CHAS J. BROOKS, Recorder.

DROWNED AT COLUMBUS.

A Mrs. Wilkins, formerly Miss Burke, of Knightstown, and three children lost their lives at Columbus, O. The husband, a railroad man, was reported out of the city when the flood came.

TROUBLES OF WRECK CREW.

The Carthage Citizen tells of the troubles and narrow escapes of the Big Four wreck crew that repaired the bridge just north of Carthage this week. One workman was seriously injured when a heavy piece of scantling fell on his head, inflicted a deep wound. The chief engineer and two other men were pitched into the river from a raft. The water was twenty feet deep at this point but they managed to swim ashore.

HAIR TURNS GRAY.

Charles Tevis of Indiana, a traveling drug salesman who visits customers here and is well known among business men, had a trying experience during the flood in Hamilton, Ohio,—so trying, in fact, that his hair turned gray. Mr. Tevis was in a hotel and was held prisoner by the raging waters from Monday night till Friday.

While there he, with other occupants, had scarcely anything to eat and were almost famished when finally released. The city was under military rule, and no one was allowed to even smoke a cigar for fear of starting a fire. Those here who are well acquainted with Mr. Tevis say that his hair actually was somewhat whitened Friday when he was able to get out of the building he took a raft and went to west Hamilton. From there he drove over rough country roads, filled with washouts, to Camden, a distance of twenty-five miles, where he was able to get a train.

GIVES METHODS OF PREVENTIONS

CAUSE BIG LOSS ANNUALLY

Use of Formaldehyde According to the Formula Set Forth Will Save Large Sum.

"It is possible to prevent smut of oats and scab of potatoes by a very simple inexpensive process," says Dr. E. D. Kern of the Purdue Experiment Station. "Since these two pests are the sources of enormous losses every year to farmers and truck-gardners this preventive treatment is worthy of attention. The treatment consists in soaking the seed grain or potatoes in a solution of formaldehyde and water. Although these treatments were devised a number of years ago and have been successfully used ever since by a great many, the numerous inquiries which are daily coming to the Purdue Experiment Station indicate that there are still many persons who are not familiar with them."

Formaldehyde is a clear colorless liquid with a penetrating odor. It is so commonly used for disinfectant purposes that practically all drug stores now handle it. It is a solution of gas in water similar to ammonia and the standard strength is 40 per cent. Buying in original sealed packages makes it certain that there has been no dilution. Bottles or cans containing the liquid must be kept well corked to prevent the gas from escaping which would weaken the strength.

Formaldehyde is sometimes also called formalin, but that is a restricted trade name, and in the drug trade formaldehyde is much more familiar. The early experimental work was done with an imported product under the name formalin, which accounts for the introduction and use of that term in the scientific bulletins. It is non-corrosive and essentially non-poisonous. In the diluted form in which it is used for the oats and potato treatments the pungent odor very largely disappears.

Discussing methods of application Prof. Kern states that to prevent smut of oats spread out the seed on a floor or canvas and sprinkle with solution of one pint of formaldehyde to fifty gallons of water until moist, but not wet enough to pack in the hand. Shovel over repeatedly to distribute moisture evenly, then into a pile and cover with sacks or canvas for at least two hours. The seed may be sown at once, or, if more convenient, may stand until the next day. If to be kept longer, dry as rapidly as possible by spreading in a thin layer and stirring occasionally with a rake or by mixing in some sand plaster. Avoid re-infecting with smut from smutty sacks or bins after treatment. Give them the formaldehyde treatment also. The solution may be mixed in a barrel and applied with a sprinkling can. Each gallon of this solution is enough for a little more than one bushel of oats.

This method is not affective for loose smut of wheat or the common smuts of barley and corn.

To prevent potato scab soak the potatoes to be used for planting for at least two hours in water to which has been added one pint of formaldehyde to each thirty gallons of the water. Somewhat longer soaking will usually do no harm, especially if the potatoes have not begun to sprout. After treatment, cut and plant in the usual way on land free from scab. Land that has grown scabby potatoes or any root crop should be planted to other crops for two or three years before again re-planting to potatoes.

This treatment can be profitably applied to all seed potatoes even when apparently free from scab. The solution, which may be mixed and conveniently used in a small watering tank, or large barrel, may be used for several consecutive treatments, but after the first two or three times the treatment should be continued longer as the solution weakens with use.

and was applauded uproariously. A parody on the song, "At the Devil's Ball," written by Ernie Sumner, a local Phi Delta and a member of the committee on music, was the most pronounced success of the thoroughly enjoyable evening. The verse and the chorus of the song was rewritten to make it apply locally, and it had to be repeated several times to satisfy the dancers.

The hall was decorated beautifully in red and black, the colors of the fraternity. A refreshment stand, decked in red and black, was hidden behind banks of ferns in the northeast corner of the dance hall. In the southeast corner the orchestra was stationed on a platform banked behind flowers and canopied by lattice work of ribbons and other designs. A large electric decoration reflecting the three Greek letters of the fraternity adorned the top of the piano. The ceiling was hidden by innumerable rows of black and red ribbons. Pineapple ice and mints were served at the refreshment booth all during the evening. The programs were diminutive books, with tinted celluloid backs and the Greek letters emblazoned in gold on the back, and the names of the committees and the chaperons. The name of the tune played was printed with each dance.

The chairman of the whole dance committee was Charles S. Sherman. The other committee members who were responsible for the ball are as follows: entertainment, Jack Knecht and Roscoe Ward; decorations, Charles Durrell and Harry Crawford; programs, Mull Wallace and Wilbur Spivey; Invitations, Earl Harton and Harry Petry; music, Fred Osborn and Ernie Sumner. There were a few guests from out of the city, among them being Miss Frances Stafford and Miss Ruth Campbell of Shelbyville.

Miss Billie Burke will make her annual appearance at English's in Indianapolis, next Monday and Tuesday. Every one has heard of Billie Burke. She is the American girl whom Charles Frohman found playing in musical comedy in London and brought back home to be John Drew's leading woman in "My Life." The next season Mr. Frohman starred her in "Love Watches," because, he said, the public insisted on it. He has been starring her ever since and each season has marked an increase in her popularity. Today she is one of the biggest money makers on the American stage, which means that the public likes her well enough to go to see her whenever she appears. This season she is presenting "The Mind the Paint Girl," a comedy by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, the foremost English dramatist, and it is this piece in which Miss Burke will be seen here. In it she impersonates a London musical comedy star—just such a girl as she herself was when Mr. Frohman discovered her.

The art exhibit under the auspices of the public schools of the city closed last night with a large attendance. The audiences both evenings were very appreciative and were delighted with pictures displayed. The collection was all that it was advertised to be and a surprise to all who had not seen such exhibits but there was a greater surprise in store for the visitors, for on every hand praise was heard for the exceedingly fine work executed by the pupils in the drawing work and in the manual work. The different school rooms were open and upon the walls of each room were displayed the drawings made by the pupils in their usual work. Many of the pupils show talent that deserves the encouragement of parents and teachers. The greatest surprise, however, was in the display of sewing and manual training.

This work in our schools is practically new and the work is directed by the teachers who do not claim to be experts trained in that line, but the visitors were loud in their praise of this practical work.

A report of the financial receipts will be given to the public as soon as all collections are received. It is estimated that between $50 and $60 will be cleared above expenses. This money will be used in buying pictures for school room decoration.

Persons wishing to order pictures at the same time the school orders will do the schools and themselves good by placing their orders with the school. A larger order sent will receive a larger discount thus helping the school.

The pupils of the school took a lively interest in the exhibit and their activity in selling tickets and in selling refreshments greatly assisted in the financial success of the work.

FUND MARK IS SET AT $1,000

A plea was to be made to Mrs. May W. Donnan's study class meeting at the Graham school building this afternoon for bedclothing for the flood sufferers. Any other people who desire to help in this way can do so. Bedclothing is especially needed because people are suffering from the cold nights. Such donation may be sent to the Republican office.

The ease of forty Knightstown men who are going to Indianapolis Sunday with hoes and brooms to help clean up the debris left in West Indianapolis by the flood, is cited as another reason why Rushville should bestir itself and assist in the relief that is needed and that is being carried on everywhere in Indiana and Ohio.

C. C. Barrett of Knightstown called Mayor Shank last night and told him forty volunteer workmen will arrive in Indianapolis Sunday morning. "If Knightstown can do that," said a Rushville man this morning, "we ought to be able to give up a little money to help some poor sufferers."

"These men," said Mr. Barrett, "are all workers and can not afford to quit work to go to Indianapolis on any other day. They will wear boots, and will carry shovels and brooms with them. The fellows who can not afford to pay their car fare will be taken care of by me. They want to help Indianapolis and are taking this means of doing it."

Knightstown came to the front in the flood relief work, too, when the employees, officers and even children in the Sailors' and Soldiers' Orphans' Home contributed money to aid the flood sufferers in Indianapolis. The total collected amounted to $83, and the children alone gave $7.33. They scraped up their pennies to assist someone in distress. The letter to the Indianapolis News said they contributed from one penny up, and even though many of them had no more than that, they gave it willingly and readily.

"There is more need at Brookville," said a Rushville man this morning, "than any other place in the state. Because it is so close to home, people forget there were more people drowned at Brookville than in any other city in Indiana. Fourteen bodies have been recovered already and others are still missing. There is more neglect and a greater loss there in comparison than any place else in Indiana. They need our help. We are slow in coming to ourselves."

It is true that the real conditions at Brookville are just beginning to dawn on the people of the counties surrounding it. Telephone and telegraph communication and rail connections were broken off by the high water and the true status of affairs was not learned until many days after the disaster. People had become calloused by that time and they have never stopped to think what this man said this morning that there were more drowning, more loss, more neglect and more destitution there than any place in Indiana.

This man has been in Brookville since the calamity and he knows whereof he speaks. He knows that the people are in real need. He says that he passed wagons loaded with supplies on the way from Connersville, which moved him to declare that it was not fair to make Connersville and smaller towns north of there bear the burden of caring for neighbors in distress.

The use of a motor truck is solicited to convey the bedroom suits and other household furnishings which may be donated to the relief fund to Brookville. The people are in need of money, household goods and fuel more than anything else. They have enough food supplies and clothes for the present.

Stevens, deceased, to appear in the Rush Circuit Court, held at Rushville, Indiana, on the 7th day of April, 1913, and show cause, if any, why Final Settlement Accounts with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs are notified to them and there make proof of heirship, and receive their distributive shares.

FLOOD REACHES HIGHEST POINT

Danger is Believed Passed at Evansville But Suffering Has Not Decreased—Highest Since 1884.

RAFTS READY AT CAIRO, ILL.

Suffragettes at London Burn Another Fine Country Home—Fatal Wreck Near Toledo.

(By American Press.)

Evansville, Ind., April 5.—The Ohio river has reached the crest at this point but there is no lessening of distress in this city and section. The river now stands at forty-eight and one-half feet, which is the highest mark ever recorded. It is estimated that about twenty miles of streets in this city are under water. Rising temperature today offered some relief to the sufferers. The flood previous to the present flood present flood was in 1884 when the stage reached 48 feet.

CAIRO STILL IN DANGER

(By American Press.)

Cairo, Ill., April 5.—The crest of the flood was expected to reach this city by tonight but arrangements are completed in case the river continues to raise. The river shows 54 feet on the gauge and the water is up to within a few inches of the concrete retaining wall. Rafts have been prepared and the officers believe that the people can be saved if the worst should come. The river is three feet above the street level and a break in the levee means that the town will be destroyed and possibly many lives lost.

BAD WRECK NEAR TOLEDO

(By American Press.)

Toledo, Ohio, April 5.—Two men were killed, four fatally sealed and five others injured when east bound train number six on the B. & O. ran through an open switch and crashed into the station at Hoytville, four miles west of here at eleven-thirty o'clock last night. Five passengers whose names could not be learned were taken to the hospital at Garretts, Indiana.

ANOTHER HOUSE IS BURNED

(By American Press.)

London, April 5.—Suffragettes burned the large country home of Charles Wood, in Buckinghamshire today. The loss is estimated at $12,000. Cards bearing the inscription "votes for Women" and other suffragette mottoes were found on the ground.

SURRENOER IS RUMORED

(By American Press.)

London, April 5.—A persistent but unconfirmed rumor here today is that Scutari has surrendered to the Montenegrins and Servians. Scutari is one of the main cities in Albania, and lies along the Adriatic coasts. It has been besieged almost constantly since the beginning of the war.

SAW DAYTON FLOOD.

Albert Lambertson, Sam Murphy, Dill Waddell, Walter Butler and Frank Palin, all of Strangton, motored to Dayton last Wednesday and saw the damage that had been done by the high waters.

BIG CONSIGNMENT OF MAIL

Traffic is Not Yet Restored so it Arrives on Time.

The biggest batch of mail to reach Rushville on any one train arrived this morning over the Big Four. There were fifty or sixty pouches, part of which were consigned to Connersville. Most of it was low class mail which has been held up by the flood. A good part of the Indianapolis mail has been coming to Rushville for the last week over the Big Four by way of Anderson and the Pennsylvania by way of Richmond. The C. H. & D. ran a train through from Indianapolis, this morning, but there were no mail clerks on and no mail could be handled.

SERVICE RESUMED ON VARIOUS ROADS

Traction Line and C. H. & D. in Operation For First Time Since Flood of Last Week.

LOCAL SCHEDULE ON I. & C.

With the C. H. & D. and I. & C. traction line starting train service today, traffic into the city today was back almost to normal. The C. H. & D. ran trains direct from Indianapolis to West Hamilton, Ohio. The bridge at Morristown has been completed and the train service from now until further notice will consist of two trains each way a day.

The traction line started service this afternoon. Only the local cars are run, which schedule will be followed for a few days at least. The local cars run every two hours. The traction officials announce that the cars will run into the terminal station in Indianapolis Monday. On the Greensburg division cars run to Fairland from Indianapolis and from Shelbyville to Greensburg. The track between Fairland and Shelbyville has not yet been repaired.

The Pennsylvania and Big Four are maintaining their regular schedules and the Pennsylvania has service from Richmond to Columbus.

WHEAT CROP WAS NOT DAMAGED MUCH

Farmers Estimate Loss on Account of the Flood in Rush County will Not be Very Heavy.

HARD CRUST PROTECTS FIELD

The local wheat crop is in good shape up to date. In order to fully realize the promise now given the wheat plant should have plenty of heat, air and moisture.

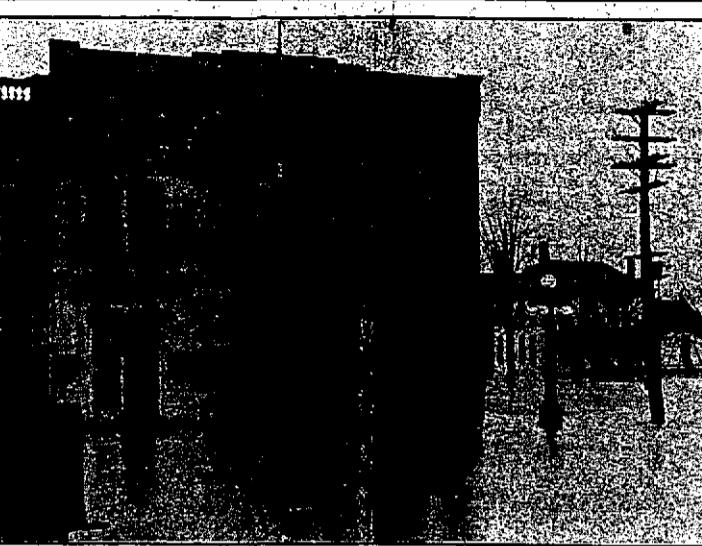

On account of the hard crust which covers the wheat fields, thus forming a complete water connection between the water supply below and the surface of the soil, it is estimated that the warmth of the sun will evaporate fully one hundred barrels of water per day from a fifty acre field, and to stop this great evaporation a light tillage of the soil should be made at once.

This is best accomplished by using a roller to be followed by a light harrowing and this can be kept up until the plant has attained a growth of fully 4 inches.

A still further benefit could be given the plant by broadcasting some good commercial fertilizer, but stirring the soil so as to break this hard crust is the most important of all.

From the reports regarding conditions, the fields have not been materially damaged by the floods, although in some places the fields were cut up by the current.

Badly Crippled But Still in the Ring

Scene at the office of the Daily Republican on the morning of Tuesday, March 25th, after the water had receded about six inches. Our machinery, which was entirely under water, is again in running order, and beginning next Monday the Daily Republican will be issued in its full size—eight pages—and can handle advertising in its full capacity. The Job Printing Department is also again in full operation.

500,000 WILL FUND MARK IS OBSERVE DAY SET AT $1,000

Law in Indiana Now That School Children Shall Celebrate Arbor Day.

APRIL 18, IS DATE THIS YEAR

No Definite Program Prescribed But Teachers Will Arrange Lessons And Demonstrations.

Arbor Day was inaugurated in 1872 in Nebraska through the efforts of J. Sterling Morton. In Indiana it was first observed in 1884. Since that time once or twice each year more or less attention has been given to Arbor Day. The last legislature passed a law requiring that Arbor Day be annually observed in the schools of the state and has fixed the third Friday of April of each year as the day. This shows the advance of the work of forestry in this state and the law is welcomed by teachers, pupils and parents.

On this date practically 500,000 school children will be told what kind of trees, shrubs and vines to select for shade and ornamental purposes; how to plant and care for them. Appropriate exercises will be held and the planting, pruning and caring for trees will be demonstrated. The parents also will be invited to participate in the exercises. On this day, the teacher, pupil and parent will work together, and it is believed that a sentiment in favor of making the home and our cities more beautiful will soon prevail.

No definite program has been prescribed by the new law, but it is expected that a majority of the teachers will give lessons in the selection of the kind of trees, shrubs and vines to plant, how to plant, prune and care for them. Grafting and budding may also be demonstrated.

Where space will permit, suitable trees, shrubs and vines will be planted on the school grounds. Their location will be studied so that their arrangement will result in artistic effects; fences and out buildings will be screened from view.

It is hoped that the schools of every neighborhood will compete with each other in the improvement of their grounds. However, the planting of trees will accomplish little unless they are properly protected and cared for. Plant trees and "watch them grow" by caring for them.

Much valuable information on the selection, planting and pruning of shade trees is contained in the 1910 report of the State Board of Forestry, which may be obtained free by writing to the State Forester at Indianapolis.

TO SHIP HORSES THIS MONTH

William Wilson Comes Ahead of Father to Arrange For Quarters.

William Wilson of California, formerly of this city has come to Indiana ahead of his father, Dick Wilson, veteran Hoosier trainer, to make arrangements for the location of the string of horses which Mr. Wilson and son will train at the state fair grounds in Indianapolis. There will probably be about fifteen horses in the string. They will be raced over the middlewest circuits. The stable will be shipped about the nineteenth of this month. Mr. Wilson and his son have had great success in their chosen vocation since leaving Rushville for the west.

FORTY-THREE TRY FOR LICENSES

COMMENCEMENT DATES SET

Special Interest Attaches to Milroy Closing Because Former Milroy Boy Delivers Address.

Forty-three took advantage of the delayed teachers' examination on the third floor of the court house today and tried for teachers' licenses. As the summer days draw nearer the schools of the county are drawing to a close and the high school commencements are common.

The teachers' examination was to have been held last Saturday, but the examination questions could not be sent out by Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction, because of the delayed mails due to the flood. Licenses issued at this time will be considered valid as if they had been issued from the examination the last Saturday in March, had it been possible to hold it. The delay will cause two examinations to fall in April as another will be held the last Saturday in April.

All the schools of the county are closed with the exception of those at Glenwood, New Salem, Milroy, Moscow, Manilla and in Rushville township. The Rushville city schools will close the last Friday in May, the thirtieth, and the commencement will be held the following week.

The Noble township commencement exercises will be held in the town hall in New Salem Friday evening, April 18. The address will be delivered by R. J. Kelley, president of Earlham college at Richmond.

The closing exercises of the Union township high school will be held at Ben Davis Creek church next Thursday evening. The main address will be delivered by the Rev. Clyde S. Black of Milroy.

The Rev. Mr. Black will also deliver the commencement address of the Walker township high school. The exercises will be held at Manilla Friday evening, April 25.

The Milroy high school commencement will be held at the Milroy Methodist church Friday evening, May 16. The address will be delivered by Prof. Thomas W. Nadal of Olivet college, Olivet, Mich. He is a former Milroy boy and much interest attaches to his coming appearance there. The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered at the same church by its pastor, the Rev. Clyde S. Black, Sunday evening, May 11.

The Orange township high school commencement will be held at Moscow in the school building Saturday, April 26. The speaker has not been selected yet.

The postponed Arlington high school commencement was held in the Arlington Christian church last night. The original date was a week ago last night but it was delayed because of the high water. The address was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Whitman of Liberty. The graduates were Edith Hardin, Margaret Edwards and Leland Gardner.

REBECCA CLOUD DIES.

Mrs. Rebecca Cloud, age 81 years, widow of the late Levi Cloud of Spiceland, died Thursday evening at a sanitorium in Indianapolis, and her body was removed to Newcastle that night. The body was taken to the late home where the funeral will be held. Mrs. Cloud is survived by two sons, Lewis E. Cloud of Newcastle and Dr. J. E. Cloud of San Diego, Cal.

WILL FILED.

The will of the late John Leisure was filed this morning. All the property, both real and personal, that had not been distributed before Mr. Leisure died is left to his widow, Jessie A. Leisure, named executrix.

On the Wane.

The discussion of politics is gradually getting back on the front page. The excitement of a calamity, the greatest which has befallen Indiana and Ohio for years, took all the interest from such mild topics as political issues.

In all of the hubbub the fact has probably been overlooked that the Bull Moosers suffered two very decisive defeats in recent municipal elections. In the St. Louis city election they ran fourth and in the Chicago city election they ran third.

Both places were supposed to be Bull Moose strongholds. They may have been one day, but the vote shows they are no more. Out of the 125,000 votes cast in St. Louis, there were only 4,611 Bull Moosers. A Republican mayor was elected with a plurality of 2,139 over the next highest candidate, a Democrat. The Socialists were third.

And it was only last week that the right honorable Samuel G. Blythe, who has shown before what a poor political predictor he is, contributed his sixth article to the Saturday Evening Post to show why the Republican party is dead. Not satisfied with the other five articles, Mr. Blythe is intent on impressing the people with the very evident fact that the G. O. P. is a corpse.

The Democrats had a walkaway in the Chicago city election. They elected judge of the superior court, city treasurer, city clerk and twenty-one of the thirty-seven aldermen. The Republicans displaced the Bull Moosers and ran second. They elected eleven aldermen and the Bull Moosers the remaining four.

People would undoubtedly be glad to carry their own packages home and save the expense of delivery teams, were it not that someone might think they were trying to reduce the cost of living.

It will be a good idea to give seats in congress to the cabinet makers, but it is to be hoped that they don't lay the aforesaid secretaries on the table.

The New Jersey legislature continues to show its good training when President Wilson calls out "Charge, Fido."

They are going to spend $2,500,000 on a public forum at Washington in honor of G. W. in spite of the fact that anybody can go to congress and talk as long as he wants to.

The back to the land movement is all right, but to make it really popular, tiled bath rooms are needed for the cross roads farm house.

We will be glad to make out your mortgage exemptions at Recorders office. CHAS J. BROOKS, Recorder.

It may have, but if it has he can show you, so you will know beyond any doubt that it is made of the material he represents it to be made of and if he won't show you, you are justified in doubting his word, because any buggy built of this kind of material can be demonstrated in a way that will leave no doubt in your mind as to workmanship and material if it is built by men who know how to build buggies. If you are going to buy a buggy, take the time to visit our sample floor and let us show you how to find out what is beneath the paint on a buggy. We carry a complete line of buggies of all styles and if you are in the market a little time spent in our store will put you in a position to make a wise selection, whether you buy your buggy here or elsewhere. Get what you pay for when you buy your next buggy. There is a way to tell and we will show you how. Remember we sell the buggies that stay on the road longest and we guarantee every vehicle to be just as we represent it to you.

TROUBLES OF WRECK CREW.

The Carthage Citizen tells of the troubles and narrow escapes of the Big Four wreck crew that repaired the bridge just north of Carthage this week. One workman was seriously injured when a heavy piece of scantling fell on his head, inflicted a deep wound. The chief engineer and two other men were pitched into the river from a raft. The water was twenty feet deep at this point but they managed to swim ashore.

HAIR TURNS GRAY.

Charles Tevis of Indiana, a traveling drug salesman who visits customers here and is well known among business men, had a trying experience during the flood in Hamilton, Ohio,—so trying, in fact, that his hair turned gray. Mr. Tevis was in a hotel and was held prisoner by the raging waters from Monday night till Friday.

While there he, with other occupants, had scarcely anything to eat and were almost famished when finally released. The city was under military rule, and no one was allowed to even smoke a cigar, for fear of starting a fire. Those here who are well acquainted with Mr.

Tevis say that his hair actually was somewhat whitened Friday when he was able to get out of the building he took a raft and went to west Hamilton. From there he drove over rough country roads, filled with washouts, to Camden, a distance of twenty-five miles, where he was able to get a train.

GIVES METHODS OF PREVENTIONS

CAUSE BIG LOSS ANNUALLY

Use of Formaldehyde According to the Formula Set Forth Will Save Large Sum.

"It is possible to prevent smut of oats and scab of potatoes by a very simple inexpensive process," says Dr. E. D. Kern of the Purdue Experiment Station. "Since these two pests are the sources of enormous losses every year to farmers and truck-gardeners this preventive treatment is worthy of attention. The treatment consists in soaking the seed grain or potatoes in a solution of formaldehyde and water. Although these treatments were devised a number of years ago and have been successfully used ever since by a great many, the numerous inquiries which are daily coming to the Purdue Experiment Station indicate that there are still many persons who are not familiar with them."

Formaldehyde is a clear colorless liquid with a penetrating odor. It is so commonly used for disinfectant purposes that practically all drug stores now handle it. It is a solution of gas in water similar to ammonia and the standard strength is 40 per cent. Buying in original sealed packages makes it certain that there has been no dilution. Bottles or cans containing the liquid must be kept well corked to prevent the gas from escaping which would weaken the strength.

Formaldehyde is sometimes also called formalin, but that is a restricted trade name, and in the drug trade formaldehyde is much more familiar. The early experimental work was done with an imported product under the name formalin, which accounts for the introduction and use of that term in the scientific bulletins. It is non-corrosive and essentially non-poisonous. In the diluted form in which it is used for the oats and potato treatments the pungent odor very largely disappears.

Discussing methods of application Prof. Kern states that to prevent smut of oats spread out the seed on a floor or canvas and sprinkle with solution of one pint of formaldehyde to fifty gallons of water until moist, but not wet enough to pack in the hand. Shovel over repeatedly to distribute moisture evenly, then into a pile and cover with sacks or canvas for at least two hours. The seed may be sown at once, or, if more convenient, may stand until the next day. If to be kept longer, dry as rapidly as possible by spreading in a thin layer and stirring occasionally with a rake or by mixing in some land plaster. Avoid re-infecting with smut from smutty sacks or bins after treatment. Give them the formaldehyde treatment also. The solution may be mixed in a barrel and applied with a sprinkling can. Each gallon of this solution is enough for a little more than one bushel of oats.

This method is not affective for loose smut of wheat or the common smuts of barley and corn.

To prevent potato scab soak the potatoes to be used for planting for at least two hours in water to which has been added one pint of formaldehyde to each thirty gallons of the water. Somewhat longer soaking will usually do no harm, especially if the potatoes have not begun to sprout. After treatment, cut and plant in the usual way on land free from scab. Land that has grown scabby potatoes or any root crop should be planted to other crops for two or three years before again re-planting to potatoes.

This treatment can be profitably applied to all seed potatoes even when apparently free from scab. The solution, which may be mixed and conveniently used in a small watering tank, or large barrel, may be used for several consecutive treatments, but after the first two or three times the treatment should be continued longer as the solution weakens with use.

The singing of the colored vocalist with the orchestra was clearly the most popular thing of the evening. He sang through a megaphone to the orchestra's accompaniment and was applauded uproariously. A parody on the song, "At the Devil's Ball," written by Ernie Summer, a local Phi Delt and a member of the committee on music, was the most pronounced success of the thoroughly enjoyable evening. The verse and the chorus of the song was rewritten to make it apply locally, and it had to be repeated several times to satisfy the dancers.

The hall was decorated beautifully in red and black, the colors of the fraternity. A refreshment stand, decked in red and black, was hidden behind banks of ferns in the northeast corner of the dance hall. In the southeast corner the orchestra was stationed on a platform banked behind flowers and canopied by lattice work of ribbons and other designs.

A large electric decoration reflecting the three Greek letters of the fraternity adorned the top of the piano. The ceiling was bidden by innumerable rows of black and red ribbons. Pineapple ice and mints were served at the refreshment booth all during the evening. The programs were diminutive books, with tinted celluloid backs and the Greek letters emblazoned in gold on the back, and the names of the committees and the chaperones. The name of the tune played was printed with each dance.

The chairman of the whole dance committee was Charles S. Sherman. The other committee members who were responsible for the ball are as follows: entertainment, Jack Knecht and Rosee Ward; decorations, Charles Durrell and Harry Crawford; programs, Mull Wallace and Wilbur Spivey; Invitations, Earl Harton and Harry Petry; music, Fred Osborn and Ernie Summer.

There were a few guests from out of the city, among them being Miss Frances Stafford and Miss Ruth Campbell of Shelbyville.

Amusements

Miss Billie Burke will make her annual appearance at English's in Indianapolis, next Monday and Tuesday. Every one has heard of Billie Burke. She is the American girl whom Charles Frohman found playing in musical comedy in London and brought back home to be John Drew's leading woman in "My Life." The next season Mr. Frohman starred her in "Love Watchers," because, he said, the public insisted on it. He has been starring her ever since and each season has marked an increase in her popularity. Today she is one of the biggest money makers on the American stage, which means that the public likes her well enough to go to see her whenever she appears. This season she is presenting "The Mind the Paint Girl," a comedy by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, the foremost English dramatist, and it is this piece in which Miss Burke will be seen here. In it she impersonates a London musical comedy star—just such a girl as she herself was when Mr. Frohman discovered her.

ART EXHIBIT WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Another Large Crowd Attended Last Night and Between $50 and $60 Was Cleared.

SCHOOL TO BUY PICTURES

The art exhibit under the auspices of the public schools of the city closed last night with a large attendance. The audiences both evenings were very appreciative and were delighted with pictures displayed. The collection was all that it was advertised to be and a surprise to all who had not seen such exhibits but there was a greater surprise in store for the visitors, for on every hand praise was heard for the exceedingly fine work executed by the pupils in the drawing work and in the manual work. The different school rooms were open and upon the walls of each room were displayed the drawings made by the pupils in their usual work.

Many of the pupils show talent that deserves the encouragement of parents and teachers. The greatest surprise, however, was in the display of sewing and manual training. This work in our schools is practically new and the work is directed by the teachers who do not claim to be experts trained in that line, but the visitors were loud in their praise of this practical work.

A report of the financial receipts will be given to the public as soon as all collections are received. It is estimated that between $50 and $60 will be cleared above expenses. This money will be used in buying pictures for school room decoration.

Persons wishing to order pictures at the same time the school orders will do the schools and themselves rood by placing their orders with the school. A larger order sent will receive a larger discount thus helping the school.

The pupils of the school took a lively interest in the exhibit and their activity in selling tickets and in selling refreshments greatly assisted in the financial success of the work.

A plea was to be made to Mrs. May W. Donnan's study class meeting at the Graham school building this afternoon for bedclothing for the flood sufferers. Any other people who desire to help in this way can do so. Bedclothing is especially needed because people are suffering from the cold nights. Such donation may be sent to the Republican office.

The case of forty Knightstown men who are going to Indianapolis Sunday with hoes and brooms to help clean up the debris left in West Indianapolis by the flood, is cited as another reason why Rushville should bestir itself and assist in the relief that is needed and that is being carried on everywhere in Indiana and Ohio.

C. C. Barrett of Knightstown called Mayor Shank last night and told him forty volunteer workmen will arrive in Indianapolis Sunday morning. "If Knightstown can do that," said a Rushville man this morning, "we ought to be able to give up a little money to help some poor sufferers." "These men," said Mr. Barrett, "are all workers and can not afford to quit work to go to Indianapolis on any other day. They will wear boots, and will carry shovels and brooms with them. The fellows who can not afford to pay their car fare will be taken care of by me. They want to help Indianapolis and are taking this means of doing it."

Knightstown came to the front in the flood relief work, too, when the employes, officers and even children in the Sailors' and Soldiers' Orphans' Home contributed money to aid the flood sufferers in Indianapolis. The total collected amounted to $83, and the children alone gave $7.33. They scraped up their pennies to assist someone in distress. The letter to the Indianapolis News said they contributed from one penny up, and even though many of them had no more than that, they gave it willingly and readily.

"There is more need at Brookville," said a Rushville man this morning, "than any other place in the state. Because it is so close to home, people forget there were more people drowned at Brookville than in any other city in Indiana. Fourteen bodies have been recovered already and others are still missing. There is more neglect and a greater loss there in comparison than any place else in Indiana. They need our help. We are slow in coming to ourselves."

It is true that the real conditions at Brookville are just beginning to dawn on the people of the counties surrounding it. Telephone and telegraph communication and rail connections were broken off by the high water and the true status of affairs was not learned until many days after the disaster. People had become calloused by that time and they have never stopped to think what this man said this morning that there were more drowning, more loss, more neglect and more destitution there than any place in Indiana.

This man has been in Brookville since the calamity and he knows whereof he speaks. He knows that the people are in real need. He says that he passed wagons loaded with supplies on the way from Connersville, which moved him to declare that it was not fair to make Connersville and smaller towns north of there bear the burden of caring for neighbors in distress.

The use of a motor truck is solicited to convey the bedroom suits and other household furnishings which may be donated to the relief fund to Brookville. The people are in need of money, household goods and fuel more than anything else. They have enough food supplies and clothes for the present.
